Dear Mr Dulles,

100-6731

Thank you for your letter regarding the brand of smoking tobacco you use. I can remember smoking Blue Boar years ago in the East but I don't believe it is sold in this part of the country.

Personally I prefer a non aromatic slow-burning burley and "Walnut" a John Middleton tobacco is what I now use. I find my tobacco when smoked constantly without switching becomes increasingly less enjoyable.

Thanks again for the tip on Blue Boar and I will get hold of some and try it.

Sincerely,

Thomas F. Hendrich Jr.

Dear Mr. Freundlich:

Thank you for your letter about my addiction to pipe smoking.

Without in any way endorsing the product, I feel free to tell you that I have smoked Blue Boar for years.

I hope this will satisfy your curiosity. However, you have aroused mine and I wonder if you might have a recommendation from one pipe-smoker to another to improve the mixture that I use.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Dulles,

I have noticed you are an inveterate pipe smoker.
Being one myself, I am curious to know the brand of tobacco you use. This is no attempt to "commercialize" on your selection, merely a genuine curiosity and a desire to improve on my own miserable brand.

Blue
has brand

Thanks.

Thomas Freundlich Jr.
